On 12 June 2010, Israeli enemy soldiers entered Lebanese territory on the outskirts of Kafr Shuba, near the Hassan Gate. This action was observed by Lebanese Army troops, who used loudspeakers to warn them that they must withdraw from Lebanese territory. However, the Israeli soldiers did not heed that warning, leading to an exchange of fire. While no one was injured, the Israeli soldiers were forced to withdraw towards their position at Ruwaysat al-Alam, inside the occupied Shab'a Farms. The entrance of Israeli soldiers into Lebanon is a flagrant violation of Lebanese sovereignty, international law and Security Council resolution 1701 (2006), as well as a threat to international peace and security.
